DAMON CAVALCINI - NBN

When the national broadband network for Australia was created 10 years ago, it was difficult to imagine the technological changes we would witness at work and at home. The nbn™ broadband access network was created to foster productivity and provide a platform for innovation in order to deliver economic and social benefits for all Australians. New economic research shows nbn is impacting the way we work, learn, live and connect. We can now see how connectivity affects Australians through every stage of their lives, no matter where they live.

CASSIE BROPHY Regional Coordinator, Boosting in local care workforce program

The Boosting the Local Care Workforce Program is designed to develop the immediate capacity of disability and aged care service providers to operate effectively and expand their workforces. By supporting the implementation of the National Disability Insurance Scheme (NDIS), this Program will contribute to the achievement of a vibrant market for disability services and allow people with disability to exercise choice and control over the services they receive and when and where they receive those services.
